

Hi fols.

It seems most people here are not really interested in Don`s real devices, but instead are willing to give instructions on what is real and what is not. Just to make things clear (At least this is how I personally see it) : As far as I know there is no one side magnet aka missing the other part, It is not normal to pretend the contrary coz it will seem as one is saying to us: You know what! Here is a coin which has only one part!!! Amazing ! Of course, one can "modify" it to make it behave like one monopole, else why Bedini and others should waste their time trying to figure out which side of a magnet is. They simply could go to a store-electronics stuff and say: Hey, I need some 40 monopoles magnets! Quickly find them, please coz I need them !!! (?) Well, I say get real people and don`t eat whatever someone unknown gives you to eat.
read:thoughts.

So folks, it is clear, that video thingy is as fake as it can be mixed with artistic sarcasm.

The Major point then is: Can we now proceed ahead to this topic`s scope, or will continue to waste our`s & others precious time ?!

I am sure in this forum are as members some very sharp individuals as well some newbies as to say.

The more "experienced" ones do not need someone to tell him:

`Hey dude/gal this is Faaaaakeeee, you got it , FFFFFFFAAAAAAAKKKKKKEEEEEEEEEEE !!!!! : @ `

You can be sure that the experienced ones will get as mad as the alarming yelling person who is trying to "reveal" the fakery !

So guys/gals don`t push this thing anymore. It will help none the good.

And do not forget there is also the pm option if you, the detective one type, "find" some newbie got swallowed entirely by false statements.

Send him privately a pm to make things clear and to not believe any hoax available ;) As for newbies in our forums, it might be necessary to post as short as possible warning sign: Please do not believe stuff if you personally have been studied the matter extensively. :flags-warning-fakery:

Do you need any help ?? Attention!!! Here we are, you just have to ask, yes just damn ask if you are not sure.

Ask other fellows of the forums, Internet search engines close electrics/electronicsfolks and so on.

The general trouble is: Do not hook the topic with off-topic "explanations" saying: 'this one is fake.....that one too. Attention , do not believe him/her!!'

And keep going & going and go... with long debates.

Does any one ,after all asked for your assistance to reveal all fakes of the internet ??? Keep thinking before posting.

Thanks for reading. I did this little pdf file out of the forum so useless off topic does not get interrupting the whole topic.

Cheers ladies and gentlemen !